SE220 Social Justice and Urban Spaces

Lecturer: Dr. Cassandra Ellerbe
Course Times: Mondays 15:45 – 17:15 & 17:30- 19:00
Email: c.ellerbe@berlin.bard.edu
Office Hours: tba

Course Description:

Justice denied anywhere diminishes justice everywhere
- Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Urban spaces have often served as the backdrop for social justice movements and politicized organizing. Racial and ethnic tensions, gender and socioeconomic inequality, forced or voluntary migration etc. are undoubtedly issues that have been at the forefront of many emancipatory movements. However, these issues also play a significant role in how urban space(s) are structured and experienced, and utilized in the struggle for socio-political justice and transformation.

In this course we will explore in depth the significance of social justice, politicized mobilization and how these issues have developed within urban space(s) across the globe. We will interrogate these issues with a major focus on feminist based approaches to the struggle for social justice in various global contexts.

Utilizing an interdisciplinary theoretical perspective (social justice theory, human/social geography, post-colonial /postcolonial feminist theory and intersectional theory), we will analyze various historical as well as current contexts that are linked to social justice based movements of marginalized groups in various urban spaces across the globe.

This course aims not only to discuss the purpose and necessity for social justice and political activism, but also to assist students in the development of critical thinking and to develop a contextual understanding of a variety of urban-related social problems.

The course entails lectures, in class discussions and presentations, off-campus visits to various Berlin based organizations, and guest lectures by local experts & scholars.

Course Objectives:

This course will be interactive and of a hands-on nature, therefore class attendance and participation in class discussions is mandatory. Your presence and active participation in the class will not only increase your ability to reflect on the issue of social justice, but also to foster the development of critical thinking and a contextual understanding of a variety of urban-related social problems.

Further, there are several primary questions that will accompany this course:

1. What is social justice and why is necessary?
2. How does my social positioning inform my views and decisions?
3. How does identity formation and geographical space(s) intersect?
4. What can I as an individual contribute to the understanding of social justice theory and the necessity for such movements within my immediate sphere?

5. What role has postcolonial theory and postcolonial feminism played in the struggle for social justice?

6. How does this happen in various spaces across the globe?

7. What are "safe" space(s), why are they important and for whom?

8. How can I become a political ally and use my privilege to support marginalised groups/communities?

Course Structure:

The course entails lectures, in class discussions and presentations, off-campus visits to various Berlin based organisations, and guest lectures by local activists & scholars.

We will be looking in depth at the following cases studies & organisations:

- The Young Lords – 1968-1973
- Theatre of the Oppressed – Social Justice in Brazil
- Black Lives Matter – 2013

Required Course Texts: These texts are available in the Bard College Berlin library

- Social Justice & Diversity

- The Black German Movement:

- The Young Lords:

- Postcolonial Feminisms

Additional required reading materials will be handed out as photocopies and/or will be available on-line.

Attendance:
Class attendance is mandatory. Please note that any unexcused absences will have a negative impact on your participation grade, and having more than two unexcused absences- in this case missing two full sessions (15:45- 19:00) - for the semester will automatically reduce your final cumulative mark by one full letter grade. In addition, students must be aware that the Bard College Berlin attendance policy specifically stipulates that missing more than 30% (in this case, eight) of the required class meetings means that you cannot receive credit for the course; missed classes in first week of the semester count double. You should review the full Bard College Berlin attendance policy stated in the Student Handbook, which also outlines what does and does not count as an excused absence. Assessment

Writing Assignments
This course has homework assignments consisting of two pages or max. 800 words. It also has informal assignments, including giving one short oral presentation on a case study dealt within the course, and writing short responses to guest lectures and off-campus visits. This course requires active and informed participation. Student participation is a pertinent element of the course and will be graded.

You are expected to have all assignments (i.e. readings,) completed for each class. Please make every effort to contact and communicate with me if you are facing a challenging situation that hinders your ability to complete an assignment on time.

In addition, a group analysis & action plan project will constitute part of the course’s final grade. Students will form groups, analyze a social justice case/movement and create an action plan for positive change based upon one of the course’s topics, or a topic that has been discussed with the instructor. Group action plan presentations will take place during the course’s last three sessions. Groups and topics for the action plan will be determined by week 6 (4 March 2019).

The final 1500 word paper for the course is due 17 May 2018 and may be a standard essay or the analysis of a social justice related case study from the student’s respective countries or based upon the student’s group action plan. The paper should reference at least two or more of the readings and at least three of the theoretical approaches that we have discussed and examined during the course. Creative approaches and or interdisciplinary analysis are highly encouraged and welcomed.

Policy on Late Submission of Papers
All essays are to be submitted via the Bard College Berlin electronic collection system, and thus will receive a time stamp. Late essays that are up to 24 hours late will be downgraded one full grade. Essays that are more than 24 hours late will also be downgraded one full grade and cannot earn a grade higher than a C. Essays that are more than 72 hours late will not be accepted.

Academic Integrity

In this course, we aim to conduct ourselves as a community of scholars, recognizing that academic study is both an intellectual and ethical enterprise. You are encouraged to build on the ideas and texts of others; that is a vital part of academic life. However, you are also obligated to document every occasion when you use another’s ideas, language, or syntax. When you use another’s ideas or language—whether through direct quotation, summary, or paraphrase—you must formally acknowledge that debt by signaling it in the MLA parenthetical format (http://www.mla.org/style). Any incidents of academic dishonesty, be they large or small, will not be tolerated and will be reported to the Academic Administration and may result in failure for the entire course. The complete Bard College Berlin policy on academic integrity is detailed in the Student Handbook and can be read online: http://www.berlin.bard.edu/for-students/student-handbook/

Cellphones, Laptops & IPads: Cellphones should be switched off for the duration of class. Laptops & IPads are allowed only when necessary for class activities.

Please note that the following course outline is provisional. Changes to the assignment and seminar schedule will be communicated in class and via the Bard College Berlin email system. It is your responsibility to remain up-to-date on course assignments and due dates!!

3rd Case Study: Theatre of the Oppressed:

The Theatre of the Oppressed is a worldwide non-violent aesthetic movement, which seeks peace, not passivity. Theater is emphasized not as a spectacle but rather as a language accessible to all. More specifically, it is a rehearsal theater designed for people who want to learn ways of fighting back against oppression in their daily lives.

Reading: Selected Readings from Augusto Boal’s, Theatre of the Oppressed

Discussion questions:
1. What exactly is Theatre of the Oppressed and how does it relate to issues of social justice?
2. Is it a rehearsal for a revolution?
3. How does this technique deal with the subject of space and its intersection with gender, race/racialization, age, and sexuality?
4. How has this work/technique been adapted within various contexts across the globe??
