Course Description

The Berlin Internship Seminar accompanies third-year students' undertaking of an internship. The seminar offers a range of theoretical and analytical tools for thinking critically about how and why we work, and how work affects our daily lives and the places where we live. Over the course of the seminar, we will talk about contemporary ways of working and living in Berlin and beyond, asking: What do we mean when we talk about work? Do we need to love what we do? What renders work in/visible? How is work gendered and classed? What does it mean to inhabit the somatic norm of the workplace? How is work organized temporally and spatially, and how does that, in turn, affect a city and its residents? What distinguishes the spaces where we live and work today? Which new forms of work have emerged in Berlin recently? Which of them seem to thrive? What is the future of work?

One of the major issues we will tackle in class is the very phenomenon of unpaid internships and what it means for you to be working for free. We will address this question by discussing the precariat, creative industry, and affective labor. Drawing from Kathi Weeks' writing, we will consider what the problem with work actually is, and why we tend to define and value ourselves through what we do professionally. We will dissect Steve Jobs' "Do what you love" mantra and discuss how work and love are interwoven. We will approach contemporary working cultures from an intersectional perspective, remaining sensitive to the workings of inequalities in structural, hegemonic, and interpersonal domains.

Besides in-class discussions, invited lectures, and off-campus visits, the seminar offers a platform for the regular exchange of observations, reflections, and comments on students' internships. The assigned readings, too, will be discussed in class in the context of students' internships. Students are required to keep an internship journal and provide regular updates on the progress of their internship.

Requirements

Attendance and participation

Your preparation, attendance, and participation are crucial. Please complete the required readings, be on time for each class, and contribute energetically and meaningfully to the discussions. A class participation mark will be awarded on the basis of your engagement in class discussions. As this seminar convenes only once a week, only one absence will be excused. Missing more than one class will affect your participation grade for this class. Please consult the Student Handbook for BCB's policy on absences. This mark makes up 30% of the final grade. A self-assessment rubric will be distributed in class and completed at the end of the semester.

Readings

On a weekly basis, you will be expected to devote 2-3 hours to complete the readings and 15-20 minutes to update your internship journal. It may be possible for you to get both done during your commute to the internship. A course reader is required for this class, but keep in mind that some of the readings we will be discussing are not included. Though all the texts you will be required to read are included in the syllabus, the highly topical nature of this course means that we will also be sending around up-to-date articles, essays, and videos to enrich our discussions. Students are encouraged to do the same.

Assignments

This class will include several graded assignments that will add up to your final grade for this class alongside your participation grade: 1) regular entries in your internship journal (10%); 2) a take-home midterm exam (25%); 3) a 500-800-word interview with your internship mentor (10%); and 4) a 1500-word final paper (25%). See below for deadlines and grading criteria. All assignments and papers are to be submitted to your instructor by email.

Internship Journal

All students are required to keep an internship journal in which they regularly (at least once a week) reflect on their work experiences and respond to prompts related to that week's readings. The journal should be kept in electronic form on Google docs and shared with the seminar instructor. The goal of this journal is twofold: not only does it provide students with important material with which to reflect back on their internship experience when they are writing their final papers, but it also provides the instructors with a discreet way to make sure the internships are going well (or step in should issues arise). Each week's entry should be completed at the latest the night before the class in question. Failing to update the journal regularly will negatively affect your grade. For more details (and examples) see the Internship Journal Handout.

Policy on Plagiarism and Late Submission of Papers

As specified in The Student Handbook, "Bard College Berlin students are expected to adhere to the highest standards of integrity and intellectual engagement in their academic work. Attendance and thorough preparation for class, as well as commitment to the pursuit of excellence in written work, are fundamental requirements of Bard College Berlin's programs." Acts of academic misconduct (plagiarism, self-plagiarism, collusion, cheating) will be reported and result in a disciplinary process (see the Student Handbook for details).

Essays that are up to 24 hours late will be downgraded one full grade (from B+ to C+, for example). Instructors are not obliged to accept essays that are more than 24 hours late. If we agree to accept a late essay, it must be submitted within four weeks of the deadline and cannot receive a grade higher than a C. Thereafter, the student will receive a failing grade for the assignment.

Grade Breakdown and Deadlines

Class participation: 30%
Regular entries in your journal: 10% // all semester
Assignment 2 (midterm): 25% // 18 October
Assignment 3 (interview): 10% // 27 November
Assignment 4 (final paper): 25% // 17 December

Grading criteria for the midterm

A = Extraordinary. The exam demonstrates student's full command of the material and reflects in-depth engagement with the readings.

B = Good to very good. The exam demonstrates student's general familiarity with the material and some engagement with the readings, but lacks critical engagement and close reading of the texts.

C = Acceptable. The exam demonstrates student's selective familiarity with the material; it contains misreadings or gaps in understanding of the texts that have been discussed in class.

D = Very poor. The exam demonstrates student's lack of engagement with the readings and lack of familiarity with the key concepts discussed in class.

F = Unacceptable. The exam demonstrates student's unfamiliarity with basic concepts discussed in class and/or fails to adhere to the academic standards as set out in the Student Handbook.

Grading criteria for the final

A = Extraordinary. The paper demonstrates a full command of the material, reflects the author's in-depth engagement with the selected readings, clear and compelling thinking, and skillful writing.

B = Good to very good. The paper has a solid, consistent focus and demonstrates clear argumentation, but some paragraphs are not fully developed and at times the paper doesn't quite know why it does what it does. The paper contains occasional stylistic, grammatical, and spelling mistakes.

C = Acceptable. The paper fulfills the minimum required by the assignment. It might lack skillful argumentation, offer irrelevant evidence, and rely on generalities (and generalizations), but shows basic understanding of the material. The paper contains multiple stylistic, grammatical, and spelling mistakes.

D = Major deficiencies in writing and argumentation, the paragraphs are not logically organized, and the paper lacks overall cohesion.

F = Unacceptable, fails to follow the basic points of the assignment and/or fails to adhere to the academic standards as set out in the Student Handbook.

Note: Students are advised to visit the Writing Center before turning in their final papers.

Schedule*

Class 1

5 September 2019: Your Internship: Practicalities & Expectations

We will go over the internship documents for the semester: your Internship Agreement and the Internship Time Sheet. We will discuss the course content, pedagogical goals, and grading requirements. You will also be introduced to the internship journal. No readings are required.

Class 2

12 September 2019: Work: Terms and Concepts

- Andrea Komlosy, Work: The Last 1000 Years (2018). Excerpts.
- R. Williams, “Work” & “Labour”, Keywords: A Vocabulary of Culture and Society (1976).

- Nirmal Puwar, Space Invaders (2004). Intro + Chapter 5 (till page 97).
- Sara Ahmed, Living a Feminist Life (2017). Chapter 5.

ASSIGNMENT 3 (10% of final grade)

For this assignment, read all the interviews from Studs Terkel’s Working (1978) in the reader. Though Terkel’s questions have mostly been edited out, what do you think they were? How did he get these people to open up about their work? What would you change about his questioning and approach? Then prepare and execute a short (500-800 words) interview with one of your mentors, write it up along the lines of Terkel's Working (see handout), sending it in no later than midnight, 27 November.

Class 9

14 November 2019: Making a Living in Creative Industries – GUEST LECTURE (tbc)

- Angela McRobbie, Be Creative: Making a Living in the New Culture Industries (2015), 33-59.

Class 10

21 November 2019: Gig and grind

- Jia Tolentino, "The Gig Economy Celebrates Working Yourself to Death", New Yorker (2017).
- John Patrick Leary, Keywords: The New Language of Capitalism (2019). Selected keywords.

Class 11

28 November 2019: Gentrification: Who owns Berlin?

- Henrik Lebuhn, "Neoliberalization in Post-Wall Berlin: Understanding the City through Crisis", Critical Planning 22 (2015): 99-118.
- Andrej Holm, "You Have To Do Everything Yourself...": Tenants in Berlin protest against gentrification and displacement. The Fine Art of Living, ed. Ina Wudtke (2018).

Class 12

5 December 2019: Work and/in the Future

- John M. Keynes, "Economic Possibilities for our Grandchildren." 1930.
- Nick Srnicek & Alex Williams, Inventing the Future. Postcapitalism and a World Without Work (2016). Excerpts.

Class 13

12 December 2019: AN OFF-CAMPUS VISIT TO A COWORKING SPACE

- Nikil Saval, "New Trends in Office Design" (2014).
- Filipa Pajević & Dragana Panić, "Coworking as a design style (or Why that beanbag is not just for comfort)" (2019).

ASSIGNMENT 4 (30% of final grade)

Your final paper will be a 1,500-word essay or a creative project (a video, a visual essay, a game, etc.) reflecting critically on (a particular aspect of) your internship experience that is anchored in, and informed by, at least two readings we have covered during the semester (at least one from after Class 6!). It should investigate a concept, paradox, or question from the readings through your own internship experience. In other words, the readings should provide the lens, the internship the material. Go through your journal and your reader, asking yourself: Which texts did you annotate most extensively? Which seem to resonate most with your internship? Which questions would you like to explore?

If you choose to submit a creative response rather than a standard academic essay, please pitch your idea latest by the end of November and make sure to include a 500-word statement in which you explain how the project relates to the readings.

Deadline for submission of the final essay is midnight of 17 December 2019.
