COURSE DESCRIPTION AND GOALS

This course is designed to advance your communicative competence to reach an intermediate level of proficiency in German. By “communicative,” we mean that you will learn to express your own ideas orally and in writing, and to develop strategies for understanding spoken and written discourse—as opposed to merely memorizing vocabulary lists and grammar rules. By “competence,” we mean that your acquisition of the language must show a high level of grammatical, lexical, and cultural accuracy. Our goal is not simply a list of rules and words, but real communication between speakers. To achieve these goals, you have to engage in as many communicative exchanges as possible.

The course will give you ample opportunity to do so: in the group or with a partner, in direct interaction with me, in listening to dialogue between other native speakers on audiovisual media, in expressing your ideas in writing, and in understanding and discussing short texts.

- The classroom interaction will be in German, because input and use are the chief engines of foreign language acquisition.
- Active and consistent classroom participation is crucial to your success at acquiring the language. A language cannot be “crammed” in. So as to get the most out of this class, you need to constantly use and practice the language.
- Outside the classroom, you are expected — and will need to — spend at least 12 hours a week, which corresponds to two hours each day, doing your homework, and learning and practicing your grammar and vocabulary.
- Make sure to always bring a hardcopy of your written homework to class. Assignments need to be double-spaced and have margins of about 3 cm on each side for comments and corrections. You will have to compose two versions of each of the longer written assignments. Based on your instructor’s feedback on version one, you will have to correct your essay and then receive a grade.
- Essays that are up to 24 hours late will be downgraded one full grade (from B+ to C+, for example). Instructors are not obliged to accept essays that are more than 24 hours late. Where an instructor agrees to accept a late essay, it must be submitted within four weeks of the deadline and cannot receive a grade of higher than C. Thereafter, the student will receive a failing grade for the assignment.

The learning goals of A2 are in accordance with the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages: Learning, Teaching and Assessment (abbreviated as CEFR). The CEFR is a guideline used to describe achievements of learners of foreign languages across Europe. It describes what a learner is supposed to be able to do in reading, listening, speaking and writing at each level. Our class fulfills the requirements of the A2 level. What this means is that once you have completed the class successfully you are able to

- understand sentences and frequently used expressions related to areas of most immediate relevance (e.g. very basic personal and family information, shopping, local geography, employment)
- communicate in simple and routine tasks requiring a simple and direct exchange of information on familiar and routine matters
- describe in simple terms aspects of your background, immediate environment and matters in areas of immediate need

ATTENDANCE

Since interaction is critical for language learning, we take class attendance very seriously. Please note the following regulations:

- You are allowed no more than three absences during the semester. Repeated lateness also counts as an absence.
- Each additional absence will lower your final grade by half a point (i.e. if your final grade is a B, and you have missed five classes and/or been late repeatedly you will be downgraded to a C)

- Six absences and more will result in automatic failure of the course

If you have any medical issues or other concerns that could affect your compliance with these regulations, you need to inform your instructor during the first week of the semester. For information on disability accommodation, you should consult with Scott Jung, Enrollment and Program Manager, s.jung@berlin.bard.edu

The process for applying for disability accommodation is explained in the Student Handbook with links to the forms here: <http://www.berlin.bard.edu/for-students/student-handbook/>

Please be punctual and considerate. Switch off your cell phones before each class (including the vibration setting). If you are texting, emailing, surfing the web – you are considered absent! Please keep bathroom breaks to a minimum: interruptions are bad for everybody’s concentration and impolite.

LEARNING AND TESTING

About every two weeks, you will take a test of the “Chapter” you have studied (the exact test date will be announced by me at least two classes in advance) and an essay assignment. The tests must be taken on the announced test days. Tests that are missed will not be rescheduled, and will receive a score of “0%”

Out of your bi-weekly essay assignments, you will complete two in class. For writing your in-class essay assignments, you may only consult paper dictionaries. Smartphones, tablets and laptop computers are not permitted. For completing your take-home essay assignments, you may only consult dictionaries. The use of translation applications or the like is not permitted.

For all essay assignments to be complete, you must hand in two versions. You will receive a grade for the corrected second version of your essay, based on its content, grammar, and structure. You can receive a maximum of 12 points for your essay (4 points for each category).

Example:

Content:	4
Structure:	3.5
Grammar:	2
Overall:	9.5 Points (B-)

- make frequent use of the audios and additional material of the book
- study the “Lernwortschatz” for each “Chapter” that you find in the back of the book

Final Exam: The final exam consists of four sections (grammar, reading comprehension, writing, listening test, oral test) that cover material from each chapter completed during the term. An “F” on the final exam results in automatic failure of the course, and you will need to retake your A2 class.

ACADEMIC HONESTY

In the written work you do for this course, you are expected to adhere to the rules of academic honesty stated under the paragraph on plagiarism in the Student Handbook: The most serious violation of academic integrity is the attempt to pass off the work of others as one’s own. Plagiarism means presenting the exact words of others as one’s own, or seeking to disguise borrowings from other sources through paraphrase and/or through the failure to use appropriate means of attribution and citation.

Plagiarism also includes the re-use of one's own work for another assignment, whether in the same course or in a different course. If a student is in any uncertainty about what constitutes plagiarism, he or she should consult academic advisors or course instructors.
