The university can be a center for and a model of cultural creation, debate, service, and political exchange among citizens of the future, one that is dominated not by commerce and a narrow definition of utility but by a love of learning.

—Leon Botstein, President of Bard College, from Jefferson’s Children

Fall Semester 2021
A liberal arts education offers students both breadth and depth of learning. The Bachelor of Arts program at Bard College Berlin combines interdisciplinary study across the humanities, social sciences, and history of science with specialization in a chosen academic field. A flexible course selection allows students to explore different areas of study according to their interests and across academic boundaries, while the progression of the program towards independent research in the fourth year allows students to gain expertise in one discipline.

The components of the Bard College Berlin curriculum are:
- Core Curriculum
- Major
- German Language
- Electives
- Study Abroad / Internship (optional)
- Senior Thesis

Exposure to new fields, thinking across academic disciplines

The core curriculum and electives are the main sources of breadth in the BCB program. Throughout their studies, all BA students follow a common curriculum in intellectual, cultural, and political history. Electives allow students to explore new areas of study and enrich their major with a variety of academic and artistic experiences. All students have an academic advisor, who helps them build a tailored and cohesive selection of courses over four years.

Developing expertise in an individual area of study

The main sources of depth in the BA program are the selection of a major and the Senior Thesis. Students declare their major in the fourth semester after completing foundational courses in one or several areas of interest. The BA program then progresses towards independent research closely supervised by a faculty member and guided by participation in a Research Colloquium.

The majors offered at Bard College Berlin are:
- Art and Aesthetics
- Economics
- Ethics and Politics
- Literature and Rhetoric
- Politics

Practical experience and professional skills

All degree-seeking students learn German to at least an intermediate level during their studies. This enables them to intern in Berlin, work off-campus, and access the German and European job markets and graduate programs after graduation. Additionally, the internship course allows students to gain work experience in fields related to their studies. The BA program prepares students for graduate study and careers in the public, private, and nonprofit sectors, in domains such as international relations, public policy, journalism, and the arts.

The faculty at Bard College Berlin are dedicated to teaching as well as to their research in areas spanning the arts, humanities, social sciences, and more.

Faculty at Bard College Berlin have earned their doctoral degrees and taught at the following universities:
- Central European University
- Columbia University
- Committee on Social Thought, University of Chicago
- Freie Universität Berlin
- Harvard University
- Katholieke Universiteit Leuven
- Heidelberg Universität
- Massachusetts Institute of Technology
- Princeton University
- SDAS, University of London
- The New School for Social Research
- University of California, Berkeley
- University of Cambridge
- University of Manchester
- University of Passau

“In the liberal arts, classes that seem to belong to one category often contain many different disciplines. For example, a class that technically fulfills a Politics requirement, actually explores economics, sociology, urban studies, and how these disciplines connect. I think I’m very good at making these connections now.”

—Elena Gagovska, BA Class of 2019
Past and ongoing student-led projects include:

- Baynatna: The Arabic Library in Berlin (the first exclusively Arabic library in Berlin)
- Himmelwerk (documentary on Iraqi asylum seekers living in Germany)
- Lingo 101 (student-taught language courses in four languages)
- Open Campus Against Closed Borders (opening the university community to migrants and asylum seekers in the area; the initiative evolved into the DAAD-funded program Campus Conversations)
- Pankow Theater Company (weekly theater workshops in English for German high school students)
- BCB Goes Green (promoting sustainable and environmentally-friendly practices and policies on campus)

FINANCIAL AID

Bard College Berlin strives to guarantee that admitted students from diverse socioeconomic backgrounds are able to attend our institution. In addition to our merit- and need-based scholarships, we offer need-based financial aid to successful applicants. All incoming students are eligible to apply regardless of nationality. US citizens and permanent residents who are eligible for federal funding through FAFSA can use those grants and loans to fund their studies at BCB. Applying for financial aid is easy: after submitting an application for admission, applicants fill out the Financial Statement form and submit it to the Financial Aid Office along with supporting documents. For further information on financial aid and scholarships please visit: https://berlin.bard.edu/admissions/finances/financial-aid/

STUDY ABROAD

Students can complete an internship in Berlin with a local organization, such as the Alte Nationalgalerie in Berlin, the Alte Nationalgalerie in Berlin, or the Alte Nationalgalerie in Berlin. They can also participate in international conferences and training sessions, such as those organized by the Open Society University Network (OSUN) or the Globalization and International Affairs Program (BGIA). Students can also contribute to an engaged university through volunteer work, skill development workshops, or engagement outside the classroom to promote commitment to active citizenship.

CIVIC ENGAGEMENT

Bard College Berlin supports student involvement with public life outside the classroom to promote commitment to active citizenship, and contribute to an engaged university. Through student-led projects, volunteer work, skill development workshops, or engagement with local communities or relevant global questions, students cooperate across the Open Society University Network (OSUN) by participating in international conferences and training sessions, sharing resources, or leading projects that span several campuses around the globe.

INTERNSHIPS

Bard College Berlin’s interdisciplinary core curriculum explores intellectual history from ancient Greece to the present day. A critical focus is placed on philosophy, economics, politics, literature, art history, film, and the performing and studio arts. Currently five majors are offered in: Economics, Politics, Art and Aesthetics, Ethics and Politics, and Literature and Rhetoric.

German and U.S. Accreditation

Bard College Berlin is accredited in the United States through Bard College by the Middle States Commission on Higher Education. In Germany, Bard College Berlin is institutionally accredited at national level by the Wissenschaftsrat (the German Council of Science and Humanities).

Bard College Berlin
A LIBERAL ARTS UNIVERSITY

Bard College Berlin, Germany
Bard College Berlin is a private, German-American, nonprofit liberal arts college offering four-year BA degree programs and one-year undergraduate programs. On a residential campus in Pankow in the former embassy quarter of East Berlin, students study the social sciences, arts, and humanities. A faculty to student ratio of 1:5 allows the college to provide an education of the highest quality that is based on small-group teaching and individual advising. Students also have access to a global network of study opportunities through partnership agreements and the Bard Network.

Bard College, Annandale-on-Hudson, New York
Bard College is a four-year residential college of the liberal arts and sciences with a 150-year history of academic excellence. Located on a campus of almost 1,000 acres in New York’s Hudson River Valley, the College offers the BA degree with concentrations in nearly 50 academic programs in four divisions (Arts; Languages and Literature; Science, Mathematics, and Computing; and Social Studies) as well as interdivisional programs.
