

IS104: Medieval Literatures and Cultures: Forms of Love

Seminar leaders: Tracy Colony, Sinem Kiliç, Giulia Clabassi, David Hayes (Coordinator), Geoff Lehman, Katalin Makkai, Hans Stauffacher, E. Cameron Wilson

Course coordinator: David Hayes (d.hayes@berlin.bard.edu)

Course times: Tuesday/Thursday 10:45-12:15 (Groups A-D); 14:00-15:30 (Groups E-H)

Course Description

In this course, we trace the development of the concept of love from its roots in diverse intellectual traditions to its cultural prominence in the European Middle Ages. Perhaps in no other time or place has a single concept held as much cultural power. Yet the meaning of love was sharply contested: both the cloister and aristocratic court claimed love as its domain. Moreover, the secular and religious meanings of love were capable of a rich interplay. Focusing upon this interplay, the course traces the journey of a specific form of love (fin' amor or so-called “courtly love”) from Muslim-ruled, multicultural al-Andalus to Occitania (Provence) to Northern France in the 12th century. Although the Medieval world seems alien to us, and in many ways has come to stand for what we now reject, its images and ideals of love formed, as C.S. Lewis says, “the background of European literature for eight hundred years” and can still be felt in the love lives of ordinary people today.

Requirements

Course Readings

Required books (you must have your own copy of the specific edition with this ISBN)

* Course Reader

* Dante, Vita Nuova. Trans. Mark Musa. Oxford University Press, 2008.

ISBN-13: 978-0199540655

Library and Book Purchase Policies

Students are expected to purchase the required books. Students on financial aid can request to loan required books from the library. All other readings will be in the course reader. Attending class without the relevant text, in a printed form, will negatively affect your participation grade.

Class preparation

Preparing for class means reading thoughtfully and engaging with the text. It is good practice to underline and take notes in the texts themselves as you read. When the text is a story, master the names of the characters and the plot before the seminar begins. Ask yourself, “What is this text’s idea or vision of love? What do I think about this idea or vision?”

Academic Integrity

Bard College Berlin maintains the highest standards of academic integrity and expects students to adhere to these standards at all times. Instances in which students fail to meet the expected standards of academic integrity will be dealt with under the Code of Student Conduct, Section 14.3 (Academic Misconduct) in the Student Handbook.

Attendance

Attendance at all classes is a crucial part of the education offered by Bard College Berlin. To account for minor circumstances, two absences will not affect the participation grade or require documentation. If serious circumstances require further absences, you must consult your seminar leader. Absences may be excused with a doctor’s note or evidence of a bureaucratic appointment. For each unexcused absence beyond two, .15 will be deducted from the final grade.

At Bard College Berlin, missing more than 30% of classes can result in a failing grade, regardless of the reasons for the absences. The full Bard College Berlin attendance policy can be found in the Student Handbook, Section 2.8.

All sessions marked as a lecture on the schedule will take place in hybrid formats. Information regarding these sessions will be communicated in advance. Since we will be using the Zoom application for online lectures, it is necessary to have this app. on your devices. During any online session, it is strongly encouraged to have your camera on.

Use of Electronics

To facilitate a focused and engaging seminar discussion, the use of electronic devices during class time is only allowed for disability accommodation. Otherwise, using electronics in class will negatively affect your seminar grade. If you have a disability accommodation please inform your instructor at the beginning of the rotation.

Writing Assignments and Assessment

Over the course of the term you will participate in two seminar groups, each led by a different seminar leader. In each of these “rotations” you will submit an essay and be graded for your participation.

Participation: Students should arrive to each class on time and prepared. Being prepared means

- (1) having completed the assigned reading (in the specific editions indicated)
- (2) bringing to class a non-electronic copy of the assigned reading, and
- (3) being ready to initiate and to contribute to discussion.

Engagement in class discussion should be regular as well as productive; quantity alone will not favorably affect the participation grade.

Essay: In this core class, like Plato's Republic and Its Interlocutors, our focus is upon our direct encounter with primary texts. Please avoid the use of secondary material in your writing. However, if you do use secondary sources whether electronic or printed, you must provide clear citations to avoid plagiarism. ChatGPT or other AI tools may not be used under any circumstances.

Exam: This course has a final exam. The exam will require you to write short essays in response to specific questions. You may use your books and hand-written notes during the exam. The use of electronic devices of all kinds is prohibited. If you have a disability accommodation that allows for extra time on exams, please be sure to inform your seminar leaders beforehand.

Writing Exercises: Individual seminar leaders may also assign short writing tasks or give reading quizzes. Grades for these tasks will be included in class participation for that rotation.

Policy on Late Submission of Papers: The instructors of this course have agreed on the following policy. Extensions may be granted by the individual seminar leaders, but the request must be made at least 24 hours before the essay deadline. Late essays will be marked down one-third of a letter grade (e.g., from A- to B+) for every 24 hours they are late, down to a maximum grade of a C.

Grades and comments will be returned to students in a timely fashion. Students are also entitled to make an appointment to discuss essay assignments and feedback during instructors' office hours. Students receive mid- and end-of-semester grades for their seminar work. Students are entitled to make an appointment with an instructor to discuss seminar participation, or may be asked to meet with the instructor at any stage in the semester regarding class progress.

Grade Breakdown: Seminar participation grade: 30% (15% per rotation); Midterm essay (2000 words): 30%; Final exam: 40%
