

Germany After the Reelection of Donald Trump

Seminar Leader: Dr. Timo Lochocki

Email: lochocki@hu-berlin.de

Office Hours: by appointment

Seminar Purpose, Learning goals and structure

Following Donald Trump's reelection as President of the United States, Germany might be described as the world's most powerful liberal democracy. The precise consequences of Trump's return to power cannot yet be gauged, but it is certain that the other longstanding centers of influence in Europe, namely France and the UK, have been significantly weakened by internal polarization. In contrast to these other countries, Germany's population is growing significantly, and it can boast much lower levels of public debt, allowing potential future investment in infrastructure and services for citizens. We can also expect that Germany's next government will be led by a political party committed to the democratic process, which can no longer be an automatic expectation in the French or US contexts. In essence, therefore, Germany enjoys auspicious advantages in an uncertain and dangerous world. What will it make of these advantages? How will it stabilize and preserve democratic institutions? What is in store in the realm of economic and social policy? How will Germany's relations with other countries develop? And what will be the implications of the US election for its role in the European Union and its foreign and security policy more generally?

Assessment, Assignments, Requirements, Grade Breakdown

The performance in the seminar is evaluated according to three equally weighed criteria: active participation, a short presentation (max. 15 minutes) and a final seminar paper (10 pages). The form of the final work will be discussed in the seminar.

Academic Integrity

Bard College Berlin maintains the highest standards of academic integrity and expects students to adhere to these standards at all times. Instances in which students fail to meet the expected standards of academic integrity will be dealt with under the Code of Student Conduct, Section 14.3 (Academic Misconduct) in the Student Handbook.

Accessibility

Bard College Berlin is committed to inclusion and providing equal access to all students; we uphold and maintain all aspects of Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, and the ADA Amendments Act of 2008, and Section 3 of the German Disability Equality Act of April 27, 2002 (Federal Law Gazette I p. 1468). If you have a disability, or think you may have a disability, please contact the Disability Accommodation Coordinator, Atticus Kleen, (accommodations@berlin.bard.edu) to request an official accommodation.

Requests for longer-term accommodations should be made as early as possible to ensure adequate time for coordination and planning. Please note that accommodations are not retroactive and may require advance notice to implement.

If you have already been approved for accommodations with the Disability Accommodation Coordinator, please arrange to meet with me outside of class so that we can develop an implementation plan.

Students may face extenuating circumstances related to various personal or external factors, which impact their academic performance. While these circumstances often do not fall within the legal framework of Disability Accommodations, Bard College Berlin is committed to supporting students experiencing such circumstances. A student needing a short extension or a replacement assignment because of an extenuating circumstance is encouraged to make arrangements directly with instructors if possible. If further support is needed, please visit the Bard College Berlin Accessibility page. Questions about this process can be directed to James Harker (j.harker@berlin.bard.edu) or Maria Anderson-Long (m.andersonlong@berlin.bard.edu).

Attendance

Attendance at all classes is a crucial part of the education offered by Bard College Berlin. To account for minor circumstances, two absences from twice-per-week courses or the equivalent (e.g. one absence from a once-per-week course) should not affect the participation grade or require documentation.

Bard College Berlin may not offer credit for any course in which a student has missed more than 30% of classes, regardless of the reasons for the absences. The full Bard College Berlin attendance policy can be found in the Student Handbook, Section 2.8.

Essay Deadlines and Policy on Late Submission of Papers

Deadline for final essay will be discussed in class.

Essays that are up to 24 hours late can be downgraded up to one full grade (from B+ to C+, for example). Instructors are not obliged to accept essays that are more than 24 hours late. Where a professor agrees to accept a late assignment, it should be submitted by the new deadline agreed upon by both parties. Thereafter, the student will receive a failing grade for the assignment. Grades and comments will be returned to students in a timely fashion. Students are also entitled to make an appointment to discuss essay assignments and feedback during instructors' office hours.

Students receive mid- and end-of-semester grades for their seminar work. Students are entitled to make an appointment with an instructor to discuss seminar participation, or may be asked to meet with the instructor at any stage in the semester regarding class progress.

About the lecturer

Timo Lochocki is a visiting fellow at the European Council on Foreign Relations (ECFR) and has studied interdisciplinary social sciences in Germany, the United States, and Norway and became known for his 2014 doctorate on the reasons behind the rise and fall of right-wing populist parties in Europe. He then worked as a fellow at the German Marshall Fund in Berlin, Washington, and Paris until 2018. In 2019, he joined the German government where he headed the Federal Ministry of Health's strategic planning department and was a key advisor to the minister during the covid-19 pandemic. He also became a "Young Transatlantic Leader" at the American Council on Germany and in 2021 Capital Magazine chose him as one of "Germany's top 40 under 40".

Since 2022, Lochocki has advised international foundations and German decision-makers on dealing with anti-democratic forces, and how to update German foreign and security policy. In addition, he is a visiting professor at Bard College Berlin. His book, "German Interests: How we can become the world's most powerful democracy and save the liberal West", will be published in February 2025.

Office hours can be arranged flexibly. Contact via: lochocki@hu-berlin.de
